We hope to inspire readers from all over the world to lose themselves for an hour or a day in lives of the past to improve and better our lives in the present and future.

This little book is a step back into the future and inspires imagination and a desire for a life full of prospects and advantages. If we follow the path of Naomi and other protagonists like her, we swallow our pride and take the bad with the good. We are survivors!

This short literary novella will add knowledge you did not know you needed and enrich your life and spirit. Pass it along, spread the word and inspire readers of all ages and from all cultural backgrounds to share their life and be motivated by the lives of others. Click here to buy the book now!
